Step 1: Complete the University of Florida online Application for Graduate Admission

Specify correct information in the University of Florida online Application for Graduate Admission:
- Location: Main Campus – Gainesville
- Program of Study: College of Public Health and Health Professions (not College of Medicine) – Epidemiology – Master of Science

Pay non-refundable application fee ($30, plus a $7 credit card processing fee). The application fee is required from all students applying to a graduate program, including current and former UF students. The application fee may only be paid by credit card on the University of Florida online Application for Graduate Admission.

Send official documents to the Office of Admissions:
- Official transcripts from each previous institution attended.
- If an international applicant, official literal (exact) English translation for the native language transcripts and diploma/degree certificates
- In an international applicant, official degree certificate for each previous degree awarded.
- Official GRE scores
- If an international applicant, official TOEFL, IELTS, or MELAB scores

Official transcripts, IELTS, and MELAB scores should be sent to the following address:

Transcripts can also be sent electronically to te@admissions.ufl.edu. The University of Florida accepts electronic transcripts from Parchment, National Student Clearinghouse, and eScrip.

Official GRE and TOEFL scores should be sent to the University of Florida, code 5812.
Step 2: Complete the departmental application

- Upload documents to the University of Florida online Application for Graduate Admission or send directly to the department via email or regular mail.
  - Unofficial transcripts from each previous institution attended.
  - If an international applicant, unofficial literal (exact) English translation for the native language transcripts and diploma/degree certificates.
  - If an international applicant, unofficial degree certificate for each previous degree awarded.
  - Unofficial GRE scores (a screenshot, scan, or the PDF you can download from ETS).
  - If an international applicant, unofficial TOEFL, IELTS, or MELAB scores (a screenshot or scan).
  - Three letters of recommendation. Please note: All letters of recommendation should be submitted directly by your recommenders. Letters of recommendation submitted by applicants will not be accepted. All letters of recommendation should be submitted on letterhead.
  - Professional statement of purpose outlining objectives that match the philosophy and focus of the program.
  - Curriculum vitae (CV).
  - Send an email to abihummel@ufl.edu when you have completed your application, including the following information:
    - Submission confirmation from the University of Florida online Application for Graduate Admission.
    - 8-digit UFID number (provided upon submission of your online application).

If sending your departmental application directly to the department, email your materials to abihummel@ufl.edu, or mail to:
