PURPOSE AND OUTCOME

Course Overview. This course covers topics in precision medicine and public health informatics. The course inspires from the White House 2015 initiative in precision medicine which stated its mission is “to enable a new era of medicine through research, technology, and policies that empower patients, researchers, and providers to work together toward development of individualized care.” The students will learn how the initiative is being concretized since its inception, by studying real-world examples, and deepening on both the methodological and translational aspects.

Relation to Program Outcomes This course covers the latest and most advanced topics and ventures our Epi program in the ‘next-generation’ era of epidemiological research and data science, in compliance to up-to-date accreditation standards, and with translational relevance to clinical and professional practice.

Course Objectives and/or Goals. This training is valuable for a PhD student who is interested into the ‘next-generation’ data science of epidemiology and public health informatics.

Upon successful completion of the course, students will be able to: (1) Discriminate between one-size-fits-all medicine and precision medicine; (2) Formulate new hypotheses for prediction modeling; (3) Design precision medicine and public health research plans; (4) Prescribe proper informatics resources; (5) Perform research design using the precision approach; Solve new precision medicine challenges and avoid design bias.

Knowledge-based goals according to Bloom’s taxonomy of educational objectives:

2. Comprehension. Ability to extrapolate the translational value of prediction models or the generalizability of models at the population level.
3. Application. Ability to identify a proper study and modelling design.
4. Analysis. Ability to question the validity of a precision approach and identify possible biases.
5. Synthesis. Ability to combine information from multiple levels and domains both upstream (when designing) and downstream (when interpreting).
6. Evaluation. Ability to formulate new evidence-based research questions; ability to evaluate the generalizability and translational importance of findings.

Instructional Methods. Roundtable sessions (using multimedia aids) upon critical reading of scientific papers divided in three parts: 1) methodological introduction, 2) applied/translational exemplification, 3) discussion and Q&A. Teaching material will be posted online. The online material (including this syllabus) will be processed through SensusAccess according to Federal, State and University’s accessibility policies and governance. Students and teacher will be exchanging roles in presenting materials and discussing topics in active engagement.

ACADEMIC REQUIREMENTS AND GRADING

Assignments Each student is required to lead one of the roundtables or to deliver a written critical review of one of the papers related to the course topics, in no more than two pages (normal page margins, 1.5 line spacing, Palatino Linotype font 11pt).

Grading Leading one roundtable or delivering the written critical review will count towards 100 points for the final mark.

Point system used (i.e., how do course points translate into letter grades).

Example:

Exam Policy. There is no formal final exam, and the student final mark will be based on the roundtable lead or the written critical review.

Policy Related to Make up Exams or Other Work. If a student chose to deliver the written critical review, it must be sent by e-mail to the teacher before the penultimate class (i.e. 9/Apr/18). If the deadline is missed, a 20 points penalty is applied. If there is no delivery by the end of the course, the mark will be an Incomplete.

Any requests for make-ups due to technical issues MUST be accompanied by the ticket number received from LSS when the problem was reported to them. The ticket number will document the time and date of the problem. You MUST e-mail me within 24 hours of the technical difficulty if you wish to request a make-up.

Policy Related to Required Class Attendance. In special circumstances a student can join the class by Skype, by informing the teacher with reasonable time in advance. Absence is defined as not showing up at class or being late more than 15 minutes. More than three absences result in an E mark.

Please note all faculty are bound by the UF policy for excused absences. For information regarding the UF Attendance Policy see the Registrar website for additional details:

Inclusive Learning Environment
Public health and health professions are based on the belief in human dignity and on respect for the individual. As we share our personal beliefs inside or outside of the classroom, it is always with the understanding that we value and respect diversity of background, experience, and opinion, where every individual feels valued. We believe in, and promote, openness and tolerance of differences in ethnicity and culture, and we respect differing personal, spiritual, religious and political values. We further believe that celebrating such diversity enriches the quality of the educational experiences we provide our students and enhances our own personal and professional relationships. We embrace The University of Florida’s Non-Discrimination Policy, which reads, “The University shall actively promote equal opportunity policies and practices conforming to laws against discrimination. The University is committed to non-discrimination with respect to race, creed, color, religion, age, disability, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity and expression, marital status, national origin, political opinions or affiliations, genetic information and veteran status as
